

Russians Challenged To Start UN Talks On Disarmament Now

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
PARIS — (P) — Small nations pleaded for greater collective security against the possibility of another Korea today in speeches before the United Nations assembly.

As they spoke, U. S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, in a special news conference, challenged the Soviet Union to start disarmament talks in the U. N. now—not to wait until some time before June 1, 1952, as the Russians proposed yesterday. Jessup also accused the Russians of trying to by-pass the U. N. in asking a world-wide arms conference.

No Magic Wand

Russia's proposal was in answer to a U. S. plan—also put before the U. N. general assembly yesterday—for a census of armaments and progressive reduction of both conventional and atomic weapons. Jessup said the U. S. and her British and French Allies would push for quick U. N. action on their proposal.

The American delegate—direct quotation of his remarks was not permitted—said the Soviet Union would have the world believe it could wave a magic wand and a coach drawn by peace doves would draw up for everybody to ride to Utopia. On the contrary, he said, the goal of peace requires long and tiresome work on a detailed program.

Laughed, He Says

Vishinsky, who professed to have "laughed and laughed" at the speech by President Truman outlining the west's proposals, had said the president "insisted" on Soviet acceptance of the program. Jessup said the Soviet delegate must have worked from an erroneous translation, because the president, actually had "urged" the Russians to accept.

In the general assembly meeting today F. W. Doidge of New Zealand urged increased measures of collective security to give the free world strength to repel any future aggressions such as occurred in Korea.

Billion-Dollar N. Y. Dock Walkout Ends

THE PINS ARE OUT—Nurse Catherine Wittmer holds 11-month-old Elvira Difuntorum and two pins at St. Luke's hospital in Chicago after doctors removed the pins from inside the baby's body. Elvira was flown to Chicago from Manila, Philippine Islands, after it was discovered that no instruments small enough to enter her esophagus were available there. The baby swallowed seven pins but five passed from her body naturally. (NEA Telephoto)

Wildcat Strike Is Terminated By Armistice

Pay Scales Remain To Be Settled

NEW YORK — (P)—Striking longshoremen flocked back to freight-jammed piers today after their leaders agreed to end the port's billion-dollar, 25-day wildcat walkout.

Along the miles of waterfront from Hoboken and Jersey City, N. J., to the far reaches of Brooklyn, thousands streamed to work before the 1 p. m. (EST) deadline set by their leaders.

Plenty of Jobs

There were jobs aplenty for all at the long-idle piers. In Hoboken, police were helping round up extra men.

The rebel union faction, which steamrollered the strike into New York's longest port tieup, yielded to a New York fact-finding board in the pre-dawn hours to end the strike.

No mention was made concerning settlement of intra-union differences. The dispute—principally over wage scales in a new contract and legality of the contract itself—still must be aired by the board.

Costliest In History

The strike was the costliest in the history of the world's biggest port, with piers sprawled along both New York and New Jersey.

At the peak of the walkout, 114 ships were tied up.

New York State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi, who appointed the three-man inquiry panel, announced shortly before 2 a. m. (EST) that the ports of New York and Boston would be

Iron River Soldier Dies Hero In Korea; Cousin Escorts Body

IRON RIVER, Mich. — (P) — Pfc. William A. Lahti comes home today from Korea, where he died a hero.

At his side is a cousin standing guard. A congressman arranged for the cousin-guard, with Navy approval.

Lahti, 21, was killed in Korea March 7. He was posthumously awarded the Silver Star, the armed services' third highest award for gallantry in action.

When his parents heard that the soldier's body was being returned for reburial here, they hoped their son could be escorted by his cousin, Navy Seaman Walter Roe, 21.

The veterans counseling center heard of the hope and relayed it to Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.). The congressman called the Navy, which sent orders to the cruiser Worcester in Cuban waters.

The cruiser put the cousin ashore and Roe flew to Miami where he entrained to meet Lahti's body.

MILWAUKEE BANK ROBBER—James Leather, 36, of Chicago (above) is being held in Milwaukee with two young companions and a red-headed girl for robbing a branch of the Wisconsin National bank in Milwaukee. The hold-up loot of $93,569 was recovered when the four were captured heading for Chicago on highway US-41.

Truman Leaves Peace Wrangle Up To Acheson

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

KEY WEST, Fla. — (P)—President Truman today left the next moves up to Secretary of State Acheson—and to the Kremlin—in the diplomatic struggles now centered in the United Nations general assembly at Paris.

For the next few days, at least, the President plans to concentrate on resting, and, if the sun comes out, swimming and tanning.

Mr. Truman flew here yesterday from Washington after a major speech Wednesday night challenging Russia to accept an American-British-French peace proposal involving a census of all war weapons, including atomic.

Having laid down American policy, the President left it up to Acheson to carry on in Paris where the secretary of state heads the United States U. N. delegation.

Associates said he was not at all surprised by the efforts of Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky of Russia to laugh off the proposal for reducing armaments with safeguards which have constant inspection as the principal protection.

Mr. Truman was represented as believing that the tri-partite proposal can not be laughed off as easily as the Russians would like.

Formosa Feels Quake

TAIPEH, Formosa — (P)—A light earthquake shook this capital of Formosa at 1:58 p. m. today. It rocked buildings and rattled windows but did not cause any major damage. A series of quakes starting Oct. 23 caused 39 deaths and left thousands homeless.

Democrats Promise Ike Truman Support

NEW YORK — (P)—The New York Times today said Democrats have visited Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Paris twice within five weeks and promised him president Truman's support for the 1952 presidential nomination.

The visits, the Times said, appeared to be part of a "much more active and organized campaign

Communists Stall Truce Talks, Await Word From Moscow

MUNSAN, Korea — (P)—Truce negotiators cancelled their afternoon meeting today after an "inconclusive and unproductive" morning session.

A United Nations command communique, which described the talks as fruitless, said negotiators would meet tomorrow at 11 a. m.

Vishinsky Not Mentioned

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, U. N. spokesman, said he got the impression Communist representatives might be stalling.

Allied sources suggested the Reds might be waiting for new instructions in view of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's proposal Thursday in Paris for a cease fire within ten days. Vishinsky suggested all troops withdraw from the 38th parallel and foreign units leave Korea within three months.

Nuckols said neither Vishinsky nor the 39th parallel were mentioned during Friday's two hour and 45 minute meeting in a dirty yellow tent in Panmunjom.

Red negotiators long ago agreed to leave the withdrawal of foreign troops for consideration in "recommendations to the governments concerned on both sides." That is point five of the agenda on which the negotiators are working. More recently the Reds dropped their insistence on a cease-fire buffer zone along the 38th parallel.

Nuckols said he felt Vishinsky's remarks would not "tend to allay any of the fears that have arisen" about Communist intentions.

More Troops Massed

On the fighting front Reds were reported shoving in a new Chinese army corps (30,000 men) to bolster its central front around Kumsong and massing tanks on the western sector facing Yonchon. Communist troops probed along both fronts in sub-zero weather.

Air battles over northwest Korea, the Fifth Air Force reported, cost the Reds three more jets destroyed and two damaged. It said no Allied planes were lost.

Negotiators of both sides propose creating a 2½ mile wide buffer zone along the present battle line with certain alterations. They differ on the alterations and the time for drafting the buffer zone.

Trapped Man Unhurt As 4-Story Building Topples In Detroit

DETROIT — (P)—With a thunderous roar, a four-story condemned building collapsed into its basement here last night. The one man in it miraculously escaped serious injury.

Pinned down by heavy timbers, masonry and even parts of the roof, F. A. Ritter, 55, escaped with bruises and facial cuts. It took firemen and policemen an hour to dig him out.

Ritter operated a girdle and brassiere factory on the first two floors of the 80-year-old building at 310 Woodward Avenue, near the Detroit riverfront. Six employees had left for the day 45 minutes before the cave-in.

The building had been condemned three months ago, and proceedings to raze it were underway.

Walter Kirilloff, who saw the building collapse from half a block away, first discovered someone was trapped in the debris.

"It crumbled in a cloud of dust," he told reporters. "There was no fire. I ran down to it. I heard somebody yell 'help' and I called a policeman who was running toward the scene. He called the firemen and other policemen. I showed them where the yell came from."

"Here I am," Ritter exclaimed as tugging firemen finally unpinched him and he crawled out.

His face was bloody, but his glasses weren't broken.

Widow Revived In City Morgue Clings To Life

SAN FRANCISCO — (P)—A 60 year old widow clung precariously to life today after having been pronounced dead, then reviving at the city morgue.

The apparently lifeless body of Mrs. Theresa Butler was found in the bathtub of her fashionable apartment yesterday noon. A doctor pronounced her dead. Two hours later, an assistant coroner heard a faint gasp as he unloaded her "body" at the city morgue.

Started, James Leonard turned to see Mrs. Butler's jaw drop open, then quiver slightly. She was rushed to a hospital. Again she seemed dead . . . no pulse, no apparent respiration and no measurable blood pressure.

But, with the administration of oxygen, blood transfusions, drugs and artificial respiration, she began a slow climb back from the edge of the grave.

Today, doctors held scant hope for Mrs. Butler's complete recovery. They said it will be another day before they know if she will survive, and then she may be paralyzed, sightless or deaf, due to prolonged lack of blood pressure to supply oxygen to her brain.

Three Red Jets Sent Crashing By Allies

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR
U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea — (P)—Allied warplanes sent three Communist jets crashing to the ground in flames today, U. S. Fifth Air Force reported.

Two other Russian-made MIG-15s were damaged. The Air Force said all Allied planes returned safely to base.

Terms About Even

Two aerial duels were fought over northwest Korea, with 52 American jets fitted against about 50 Communist planes. It was one of the few times the two sides have met on near-even terms.

On the ground, Chinese forces threw a series of small attacks before daylight at Allied positions near Yonchon and Kumsong. Yonchon is in the west, Kumsong on the central front.

The temperature dipped to 17 degrees Thursday night. The ground was white with frost.

Two Hills Lost

Despite continuous pounding by Allied artillery, the Communists Friday morning still held two peaks wrested from the Allies Sunday near Yonchon.

The cold wave cleared the Korean skies and brought good flying weather. But it also brought out the MIGs.

Two of the MIGs destroyed Friday were shot down by F-80 Shooting Star jets which supposedly are no match for the speedier Communist jets.

The three MIGs shot down gave the Allied jet pilots their biggest score since Oct. 23 when three Red jets also were destroyed. In that fight 79 Allied planes tangled with 190 Communist MIGs.

MacArthur Visit Arouses Seattle

SEATTLE — (P)—Embroidered in charges by labor groups that General MacArthur's visit here next week has improper political implications, Seattle's centennial celebration planners stood their ground today and left the "welcome mat" out.

The complaints were made by top AFL leaders in Seattle, the official paper for the AFL Teamsters' Union and the Seattle-King County CIO Council.

The AFL groups say they would welcome the General on a personal basis but feel his appearance is sponsored in an aura of politics out of keeping with the opening of a celebration of Seattle's first 100 years.

The CIO officials say they don't like MacArthur and would rather he stayed off the University of Washington campus, where he is scheduled to make a nationwide broadcast Tuesday night, and out of the centennial celebration altogether.

The Teamsters paper, mouthpiece for National Executive Vice President Dave Beck, objects to MacArthur traveling with U. S. Sen. Harry P. Cain (R-Wash.), who it says is "Labor's Number 1 Enemy."

Chicago Political Conventions To Be Held In Amphitheatre

CHICAGO — (P)—The Republican and Democratic parties will hold their 1952 national political conventions in Chicago's International Amphitheatre.

Television facilities accounted for the selection of the Amphitheatre rather than the Chicago stadium, where the 1944 conventions were held.

Independent Voters Passed Up By Taft; Hopes Tied To GOP

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON — (P)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) apparently is willing to stake his White House chances on a campaign aimed primarily at Republicans while ignoring the Independent vote.

The Ohio senator has made it clear during a current southern speaking trip he doesn't believe it is worthwhile for the Republicans to bid strongly for the backing of voters who ordinarily don't pay much attention to party labels. He has, however, urged southern anti-Communist Democrats to join his cause.

It apparently is Taft's contention that if the Republicans can get their own party members to the polls a year from now, they will get enough incidental help from others to put across their candidate. He has urged colleagues to concentrate on the "uninterested" voters.

The Republicans have been in the minority in presidential elections since 1928, but Taft is known to believe that the GOP could have won in 1948 if many party members hadn't thought the election was a cinch and hadn't failed to turn out to the polls.

Whether he is right or wrong in that belief, Taft seemingly is firmly committed to running a wholly Republican type of campaign if he gets the GOP nomination for which he is campaigning vigorously.

This, perhaps more than incidentally, is calculated to give him some help in getting the nomination.

His only real opponent as the moment appears to be Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who hasn't publicly said whether he is a Republican or a Democrat and who hasn't made himself publicly available for a nomination.

He described the state's general fund as in a "precarious condition" in a report to Governor Williams and the legislature.

Reports of revenues and expenditures for the first quarter of the current fiscal year show, Steadman said, that he was right in figuring a deficit of $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 this year on top of the accumulated deficit of $40,000,000.

He said the only bright spot in the state's fiscal picture was the additional revenue obtained by an increased corporation privilege tax voted by the 1951 legislature. And, he said, this increase was figured in the deficit estimate.

Steadman reported the corporation tax brought in $12,104,000 more than in the same period last year, and that another $3,000,000 in late collections is expected.

But, he said, other general fund revenues have slumped $1,388,000.

Czech Diplomat Top Spy In U. S.

By JOSEPH C. GOODWIN

WASHINGTON — (P)—A Czech diplomat assigned to duty here has been described by Senate internal security investigators as a top Communist spy.

He was named by Senators McCarran (D-Nev.) and O'Connor (D-MD) last night as Col. Oto Biheler, military and air attaché to the Czechoslovakian embassy. The senators said he is now in Czechoslovakia.

McCarran, chairman of the Senate internal security committee, said "it is known to our intelligence agents that Biheler, for two years, has been gathering information on this country's research into bacteriological warfare and atomic weapons and other advanced methods of defense."

In a separate statement, O'Connor described the Czech as "a key figure in the Communist espionage apparatus in the United States."

Maxey Promises Delta Relief Investigation If Supervisors Ask It

LANSING (Special)—If asked by the board of supervisors, the state social welfare department will survey Delta county's relief setup, according to Willard J. Maxey, state director of social welfare.

Maxey made it plain, however, that the state had no intention of "sticking its nose into Delta county's business."

"While the state is contributing about 75 per cent of welfare funds distributed in Delta county, 'home rule' governs the situation," said Maxey.

Can Ask Investigation

"As a result, the welfare situation is almost entirely in the hands of the Delta county board of supervisors. The supervisors can clean up a 'situation' if so-called 'situation' exists.

"The supervisors have access to relief rolls and, except for old age assistance and aid to the blind, which are federally-sponsored agencies, they can make welfare rolls information available if they want."

Maxey said the state cannot make an investigation of a local relief situation unless it is requested by local authorities.

He pointed out, however, that in some instances the supervisors themselves are the main reason for unusually heavy case loads.

Personal Policies

"Supervisors often are not above playing politics with relief funds, although we have had no indication that such is the case in Delta county," said Maxey.

"Often, with an eye towards keeping themselves in office, they will use their influence on local welfare directors to put persons on relief who should not be there.

"Such a procedure occasionally happens where the chairman of the board of supervisors or key men on the county welfare committee of the board are more interested in their personal political future than they are in county government as a whole."

Up To The People

Congress recently took action to permit contributing federal welfare funds to states which permit public inspection of relief rolls. The action resulted when Indiana made public such information in violation of federal laws and then was refused further federal funds.

Michigan's legislature has not yet taken action to approve such publicity. If it does, Maxey indicated, information on the amount of old age assistance and aid to the blind may be made public.

Maxey concluded: "At present, Delta county's welfare problems are its own. If the public feels too much money is being spent on welfare cases, especially undeserving ones, voters should indicate to their supervisors that they want to know the facts. Then, if the supervisors want and ask for it, we'll send investigators in to see if any irregularities exist and, if they do, to suggest ways of correcting them."

DEER PORTRAIT BY FIRELIGHT — Photographs have been made by the light of the sun and moon, as well as by flashlight and floodlight. But John Calkins, a Michigan outdoor photographer and member of the Outdoor Photographers League, has gone one better. Faced with the problem of shooting a wildlife close-up after dark, showing a freshly killed buck deer — without benefit of flash — Calkins set up his camera, then proceeded to gather brush into a pile, which he touched off with a match at a safe distance from the subject. A 20-second exposure, taken entirely by campfire light, captured this interesting close-up of a pretty miss astride the deer which, incidentally, this hunter actually shot! County Chest Drive Now Within $1,444 Of Goal

The Delta County Community Chest climbed another $358.26 in the last 24 hours to reach the total of $18,855.42 — only $1,444.58 short of the goal of $20,000.

Escanaba's total increased to $12,078.08, within $421.92 of the $12,500 goal, and Gladstone went over the hump with $4,750.26. No further reports were heard from the 14 townships, but work is continuing toward the combined $3,000 goal. The sum of $2,027.08 has been reported to date.

Five of the 14 townships have reached or exceeded their quotas. They are Fairbanks, Nahma, Bay de Noc, Garden and Masonville. Victor Borga reported $102.05 subscribed in Garden against a quota of $100, and the Rev. Wilbert Johnson says Masonville has "more than $200" or over $50 above its quota.

Western Townships
Solicitors are continuing their work in the western townships.

Henry Boyle and Leslie Windquist report Bark River within $100 of its $350 quota. Gordon Hulte at Brampton is working toward a $100 quota, and Mrs. Elmer Johnson reports that Wells township has more than half of its quota of $900, the highest of all township quotas.

Mrs. Chester Feak is attempting to canvass all the residents of Ford River township where response has been slow and George Rappette says he is getting much help in Escanaba township and is optimistic about reaching the goal of $175.

The Lions club with the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Augie Lundgaard expect to reach Cornell's quota of $50.

Goal By Monday?

"Every effort will be made to reach the Escanaba and township quotas over the weekend, and we hope to hit $20,000 by Monday," County Chairman Nicholas Chapkiss said today.

"All workers are asked to turn in their envelopes by Monday. Persons not contacted are earnestly requested to bring or mail their contributions to Chest headquarters at 710½ Ludington street. This campaign must be a success if the beneficial practice of consolidating all drives in to one is to be a success in the future."

Guests Wash The Dishes To Stay At This Hotel

By BERT GOLDRATH

NEA Staff Correspondent

EAST LANSING, Mich.—(NEA)—There's a new $2,000,000 hotel on the Michigan State College campus, and all the employees—from the manager to the dishwasher—are students. The hotel actually houses special courses for restaurant and hotel operators.

The structure is ultra-modern, seven stories high and is called, officially, the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education. The courses are expected to attract 125,000 student during 1951.

These men are paid regular college wages and serve as assistant managers, bellboys and busboys. They service the 193 hotel-type double rooms and the restaurant that can serve 1000.

Seven rooms on the sixth floor are experimental: guests help choose the most suitable furnishings, colors and lighting. Available to guests is a choice of four radio programs or a television show from the college's closed-circuit TV network. The wiring includes a public address system that doubles as an emergency alarm.

Each floor has a room numbered 13, a practice almost universally avoided in the commercial hotel field.

Students will be spared the job of removing snow from the building's sidewalks this winter: radiant heat from imbedded pipes will do the task.

But don't drop in at the hotel and expect to be registered as a guest. It doesn't compete with commercial hotels and is open only to members of conferences or study groups and official guests of the college.

Room service is conspicuous by its absence, and under college rules there is no bar.

But these rules are of little con-

New Record Set In Ore Receipts

C&NW Ton Total Higher Than 1943

Arrival at Escanaba of additional cars of iron ore today set an all-time record for the two Chicago & North Western docks at Escanaba, exceeding the previous high established in the wartime year of 1943.

Today's record-breaking receipts stood at 6,338,750 tons, compared to the 1943 season total of 6,305,565 tons for the previous record.

L. A. McMillan, dock agent, said that all of the ore received is expected to be shipped out, despite the early cold wave that has frozen ore in the cars and delayed loadings.

A total of 1,900 cars of ore is now on hand here, 200 additional cars are enroute, all badly frozen. Because of the freezing temperatures the mines stopped loading a week ago.

Locomotives are pouring hot water into the frozen ore in cars on the docks, the steam plant is going full blast at the Danforth yards, and today's higher temperatures are not long enough sustained to materially aid in thawing the ore.

Eight ore carriers are in the harbor today and two more are scheduled to arrive. In port are the Strs. Arcturus, G. W. Gates, J. P. Reiss, Crete, Leetsdale, E. W. Mudge, Chacornach and Angeline, with the D. O. Mills and Clemens A. Reiss due today.

The cold weather has sufficiently delayed loadings so that it is now known that it will be impossible to reach the season goal of 6,800,000 tons, McMillan said. The shipments may come close to that figure, however, if weather conditions become favorable.

Former Foster City Man To Lead Lansing Parade

LANSING—Sgt. 1 cl Oscar G. Johnson, jr., R. 1, DeWitt, will be honor guest of Lt. Col. Leslie E. Peek, grand marshal, in Lansing's Armistice Day parade Monday, Nov. 12, according to Chief Warrant Officer Douglas A. Monroe, general chairman of the parade committee.

One of Michigan's five living army congressional medal of honor winners in World War II, Sgt. Johnson has been invited to ride in the grand marshal's car as Lansing remembers the first Armistice Day with a torchlight parade.

Winner of the nation's highest award for valor, Sgt. Johnson earned the right to lay down his arms and leave the defense of his country to others. Instead, however, he continues to serve both his state and nation as a member of the Michigan National Guard.

A native of the Upper Peninsula, Sgt. Johnson settled near DeWitt following his separation from service after World War II. It was in March 1950 that, quiet and unassuming, he appeared at the Lansing artillery armory to enlist in the national guard. Several days passed before members of the state headquarters detachment became aware that a congressional medal of honor winner had elected to serve with them.

Sgt. Johnson earned the medal of honor while serving with the 91st infantry division near Scarpia, Italy, in September, 1944. Using the weapons of his slain and wounded comrades, he stood alone at the base of a German defense arc for two days and two nights without respite and, despite the fact that friendly troops could not reach him because of heavy fire, he withstood repeated enemy attacks.

According to his official citation, Sgt. Johnson, then a private first class, "practically single-handed protected the left flank of his company's position in the offensive to break the German Gothic line. * * * On Sept. 17, 25 German soldiers surrendered to him. Five companies of a German paratroop regiment were repeatedly committed to the attack on Company B without success. Twenty dead Germans were found in front of his position. By his heroic stand and utter disregard for personal safety, Sgt. Johnson was in large measure responsible for defeating the enemy's attempts to turn the exposed left flank."

In addition to the congressional medal of honor, Sgt. Johnson wears the purple heart, two foreign decorations, and the European theater ribbon with three battle stars.

Born in Ishpeming, Sgt. Johnson entered service in 1942 from his parent's home in Foster City. Formerly a construction worker, he is employed now as a national guard caretaker. He, his wife, and two children reside on a farm near DeWitt.

See Bummer Crop Of Castor-Oil Beans

VERNON, Tex.—(AP)—Bad news for the kids. A bumper crop of castor-oil beans is on the way from this North Texas and neighboring Oklahoma area.

Farmers expect to reap a harvest of more than $2,000,000 when the work's all done this fall.

However, the kids don't get it all. Uncle Sam is stockpiling the stuff because it's used in manufacturing a special grease for jet airplanes. Its lubricating properties stand up equally well in extremes of heat or cold.

Increased Traffic At Straits Shows Need For Building Bridge

WITH nearly two months of the year still remaining, including the busy hunting season when traffic at the Straits of Mackinac is jammed, the number of cars ferried across the straits in 1951 has surpassed the highest 12 months record previously established.

So far this year 607,000 vehicles have crossed the straits on the state ferries. The previous record for a year was in 1949 when 605,973 cars crossed the straits. Last year's total was 604,612.

The figures show the urgency for constructing a bridge to break the traffic bottleneck between the two peninsulas of Michigan. Traffic is increasing and it will continue to increase. The 600,000 plus record of this year would be greatly expanded if there was a bridge across the straits.

The long delays at both ends of the straits, always a serious impediment to traffic between Michigan's peninsulas, have increased in frequency this year. It is true that a new ferry will soon be in service to help meet the increased load, but travelers know that the only way to break the bottleneck is by constructing a toll bridge. Only then will a motorist be able to drive to the straits with complete assurance that his trip will not be delayed because of the water barrier.

Next week when the hunting season opens, there will be traffic jams miles long on the Mackinac City city of the straits. Ferry boats will run without regard to schedule in determined but futile effort to keep pace with the demand. Hunters and other travelers will chafe at the delay and the inconvenience. Others who can avoid

Movies, TV, Prove Quality Counts Most

WHEN radio came in, the prophets foresaw the quick demise of the phonograph recording industry. But they were wrong. The record business soared to new peaks, far outdistancing the moderate pre-radio levels.

Television's arrival produced similar gloom forecasts of the death of motion pictures. Who would get out the car, drive downtown or to a neighborhood center, hunt for a parking spot and go to a movie when he could put his slippers feet up on a hassock and be entertained without leaving his living room?

For a good while, it looked like there would be much more substance to the movie-makers' fears. Cinema theaters closed by the dozens across the country. The volume of business sagged painfully. Good films seemed an increasing rarity.

But those who thought the time had come to start choosing pallbearers have been confounded by the events of recent months. The box office has picked up sharply. Hollywood, recognizing the threat to its existence, has poured energy and talent into pictures with a determination seldom matched in its erratic history. And, in dazzling succession, many of these films have won high critical acclaim.

In the experts' judgment, it is this new stress on quality that has turned the tide. Careful scanning of the box-office figures shows the movie-goer exercising extreme selectivity. The good ones he supports with impulsive vigor, long lines outside the big metropolitan theaters attest to that. The turkeys he lets die a lonesome death.

Television has had something of the impact on movies that the latter had on the legitimate theater. The films destroyed the market for run-of-mine stage fare. Why see a play for a few dollars when you could see a picture just about as good for fifty or sixty cents?

TV, with its great spate of studio dramas and its almost embarrassing emphasis on old films, is slicing away at the market for "B" pictures.

But the thirst for top-grade cinema apparently has never really abated. In the dramatic mirroring of life, in the creation of light-hearted fancy, the films can occupy a unique place. With unsurpassed technical facilities, with abundant resources, with cameras that can range the face of the earth, the movies are equipped to contribute to art and entertainment in their own special way.

Too often in the past the film-makers have sadly underestimated the increasingly discriminate nature of their audience. Too often they have measured their task narrowly, in terms of superficial entertainment routinely and unimaginatively offered.

The recent run of excellent pictures raises hopes that, under the spur of TV competition, they are at last out to make the most of their rich potential. In the end, there may be something like a merger or compromise with TV. But a continuance of present trends will at least assure that this will be a meeting of equals, the movies are not going to yield by default as long as quality is their insignia.

The Turtle

I remember life was peaceful in the not too distant past, but when Sister bought a turtle, tranquil living didn't last. It was just a dinky turtle like the children buy for pets, but of Sister's fondness for him I was soon to have regrets. For that crawling little monster was a problem from the start, and I secretly am glad that he decided to depart.

She bestowed the name of Abner on his beady little brow, and she found a box to house him and she made a solemn vow, that she'd care for him and feed him, and no trouble he would be, but ere long the job of finding him was always left to me. For our Abner liked to travel and would often disappear, and I'd turn the household upside down to find the little deer.

I would have to move the furniture to seek that roving squirt, and I'd bang my head upon the floor until it really hurt. I retrieved him many times until one day he went outside, and since then, praise be, he's missing and I hope he'll always hide. For if Abner has departed, life at home will be serene, with no turtle and no hide-and-seek to complicate the scene.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Next to his grandchildren, what General Eisenhower enjoys most in Washington was playing bridge with Chief Justice Fred Vinson, ex-White House jester George Allen and Sid Richardson, the Texas oilman.

Early in the game when Allen was winning, he remarked to Eisenhower, who is supposed to be one of the best bridge players in the country:

"I'm going to make an hour off every day to give you lessons."

Later Eisenhower started winning. "I think I had better arrange for you to come over to Paris and play cards," he remarked solemnly to Allen.

The luncheon Eisenhower had with President Truman was highlighted by the general's view both on peace and the difficulties of the job in Europe.

Eisenhower told Truman that he had no intention of leaving his post in Paris until his job was done. Then emphasizing his agreement with Truman that peace is the greatest issue in the world and that we can achieve peace only through strength, the general added something to this effect: "Every time I look at the picture of my grandchildren, I know how everything else is unimportant."

Truman added something to the effect that he would go to bat for Eisenhower on whatever he needed to do the job in Western Europe.

After Ike left town, someone asked George Allen: "When do you think Eisenhower will announce his intentions?"

"You know I don't badger Ike about politics," replied Allen in his Mississippi drawl. "I just play cards and joke with him. But if I were to go out on a limb, I would say on the second ballot."

This somewhat inclusive comment was interpreted as meaning that Eisenhower would run, but only at the last minute. He cannot leave Europe until sometime next spring. The rearmament program is dragging and he feels he cannot launch a political career until he has the job reasonably well under way.

Whether Republican politicians, now eyeing the Taft bandwagon, can wait until "the second ballot"—in other words until the last minute before the Republican convention—remains to be seen.

However, Eisenhower did reveal to at least one friend during his Washington visit that on diplomatic issues he sided with the Republicans in that he felt that Washington needed a housecleaning. But on foreign policy he said he sided with the Democrats. In fact, he went so far as to indicate that if Senator Taft was the Republican nominee, he, Eisenhower, would not only not support him but might even consider running against him as a Democrat.

TRUMAN'S CRONIES

Rather sadly, President Truman told new Democrat Chairman Frank McKinney that "friends" had let him down.

The comment came after the president urged Hoosier banker McKinney to clean house in both the Democratic party and administration. "I might have to step on the toes of some of your friends, Mr. President," McKinney replied.

"I'm loyal to my friends," said Truman, then unhappily added: "But some of them have let me down. You have my complete confidence and do what's needed for the good of the party, regardless of whose toes you step on."

GOP AND TAX SCANDALS

The cue has gone out to Republican speakers across the country to fan the flames of the internal revenue scandals into a hot political issue for 1952. To supply the ammunition, the Senate GOP policy committee has done a painstaking research job, which will be sent out for the confidential use of Republicans.

This eight-page research pamphlet goes into the case histories of 27 officials who are linked directly or indirectly with the internal revenue scandals. It also gives helpful hints on how to slant the scandals in order to embarrass the Truman administration. Here are some sample quotes, which the pamphlet suggests to Republican speakers:

"The Bureau of Internal Revenue, with all the power it exercises over the most intimate financial affairs of the public, should be a citadel of integrity. But the dishonest acts of the Truman administration appointees are discrediting it in the minds of the people," the confidential GOP pamphlet charges.

"What brought this sorry state of affairs to the bureau, which for so long was held in wide acclaim and was a stronghold of public confidence?" demands the pamphlet. "Nearly twenty years of entrenched government sowed the seeds of corruption. The Truman administration is reaping now the fruits of its own abuse of political power."

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Marquette—Supt. John A. Lemmer of Escanaba will address the Phi Epsilon Honor society at Northern Michigan college Thursday.

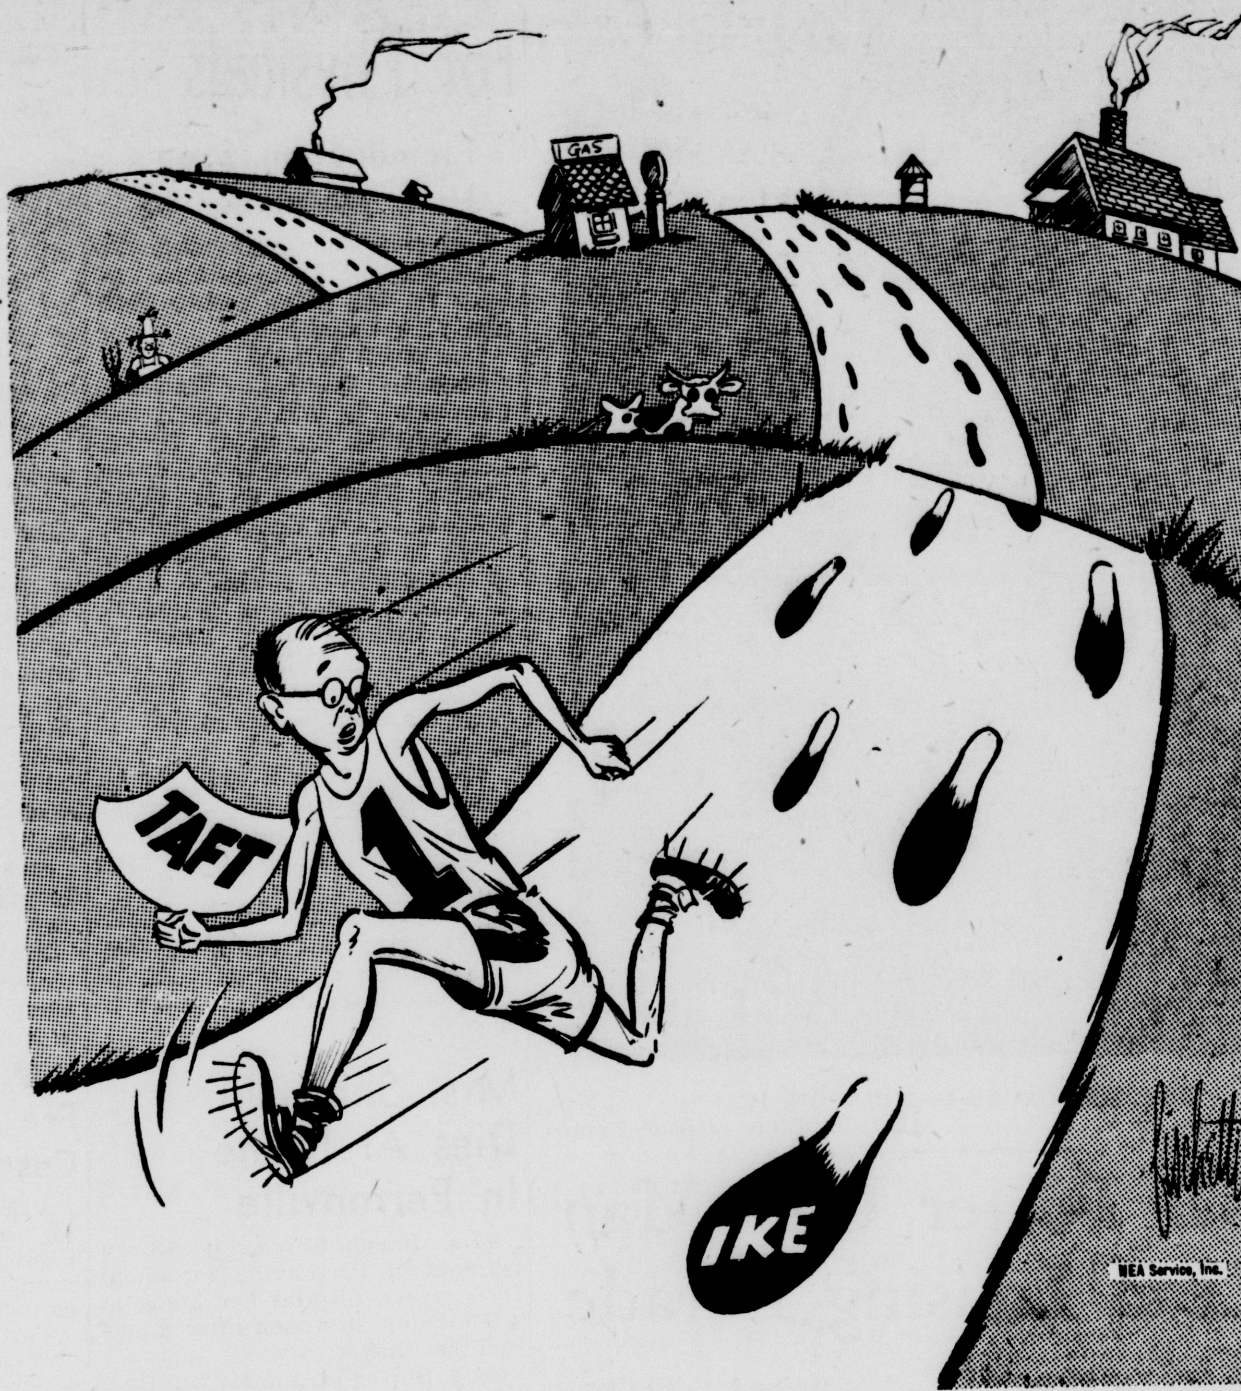

Berlin—Adolf Hitler declared tonight in a reply to President Roosevelt's Navy Day challenge that he had ordered the German navy to fire on American ships only after being attacked, but that any officer who then failed to fire would be court-martialed.

The Invisible Candidate

It's Your Business

Businessmen Should Show Interest In Politics And Their Government

By CARLETON A. CLEVELAND
President, Clark-Cleveland, Inc.,
Binghamton, N. Y.

Why be concerned about our partnership with government? Indirectly, because business is the main well from which government draws liquid cash. We should be concerned about the caliber of government at all times. Therefore we must be interested in the politics that provides the form and personnel of government and our responsibilities toward our government and peoples of other nations looking to us for friendship.

We are supposed to have a government by the consent of the governed. If we want good government, we must start with ourselves. Ambitious politicians will invariably try to take the lead in what they think the people want. The candidate who promises the most too often gets the most votes. Rarely do they give us the right price-tag on the deal that they try to sell. The result is the famous phrase, "Spend, tax and elect."

More mature adults who think for themselves and can see what this will do to all our people, their freedom and the country's general welfare must, in personal and group action, take part in public affairs.

I am concerned about the immediate pressing danger of spending which is the greatest menace to our nation. That is why businessmen and concerned citizens must now choose the future course. Will we stick indifferently to our personal selfish interests or decide by the equality of sacrifice to serve the general welfare of this most favored nation with its freedom and blessings?

Do not forget—lethargy in citizenship is an insidious habit that can contribute to the slow death of the kind of freedom of choice we know in America. People have played "Follow the Leader" since childhood. What kind of leaders do you want them to follow?

There are plenty of fine men in public office and political leadership. They want and need your help. The people must be constantly alert to give their leadership to men who have as their conception of trust in public office what Aristotle meant when he defined "Politics is ethics."

It is strange and most illuminating that so many men and women will do so much for a private club, a Community Chest or institutional charity, but will stay away from the voting places on primary or election day or never talk with or work with a chairman or a member of a local county political committee on behalf of sound policies and about candidates who stand for them in governmental affairs.

We were brought up not to be tied to our mother's apron strings but the more we let political spending dominate the more we will be tied to the political strings of bureaucracy.

The United States is—"US"—. If we pursue only selfish interests, and do not take part, we could conceivably surrender to political power here. It is going to take a noble attitude but it must be taken. Will we be with Gladstone who once said, "The greatest problem of a statesman is to look ahead and see where God is 100 years in the future." Maybe the people have got to ponder that thought too.

The pioneer people of this nation had an affirmative spirit and Christian goodness as their foundation. We are the pioneers for the next generation. Today there is much unrest in many souls. It is fear with many of some force of which to be afraid. Have we been maneuvered into a negative position and into a defensive policy? Let us be positive in thought, and in our duties of citizenship. The positive thought of self-government and self-reliance were born here. Let us resolve not to be talked out of them.

Unless with divine guidance we seek to use honor, character and good will in our daily affairs, in our business transactions and within the channels of government, we will not have a nation that expresses our best selves. While in England last April, I was asked several times, "What do the American people think and believe? I was kidded about our mink coat story and the Senate investigations of corruption. If our nation and democracy is the pattern for the free, Christian development of man, each of us is a weaver of that pattern, a trustee of our government stewardship and an actor in the national example. Many more business, labor, and professional leaders must work and vote for and express and give leadership that will call for a practice of morality, honor and service to the general welfare over personal interest.

So They Say

Too often chairmen or members of important committees are not satisfied to make a thorough investigation and publish the results as a public document, but they yield to the temptation of selling this information (in magazines and speeches) and enriching themselves.—Rep. Usher L. Burdick (R., N. D.).

The growing practice of character assassination is already curbing free speech and it is threatening all of our other freedoms. I daresay there are people . . . who have reached the point where they are afraid to explore a new idea.—President Truman.

The Negro actor, no matter how great, is Broadway's stepchild.—Tallulah Bankhead, actress.

Mosquitoes particularly like it here (in Florida) because of all the lovely young girl tourists. They make awfully tender nibbling for our mosquitoes—much better than in California, where the women are nearly as pretty.—J. Arnold Mims, president Miami, Fla., Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Here's the sweetest gesture of the year. Cuba is sending our boys in Korea 2000 tons of sugar and 10,000 gallons of alcohol. What on earth will our boys do with all that sugar?—Frank Edwards, radio commentator.

Unless we can continue to believe in our power to shape the future for ourselves, the future will be war, and war will be destruction.—Archibald MacLeish, Harvard professor.

When you breach the dam against higher prices, you breach the dam against higher wages, and the dog keeps chasing his tail.—Charles E. Wilson, defense mobilizer.

Show business in the U. S. will forever be indebted to the Negro. For from him the industry has gained so much of the good music, dancing and comedy which helps to keep it alive. Surely what they have contrived gives them full right to expect nothing but the best from the industry in return.—Bing Crosby.

In a democracy, what the people think is right. If you want to save the world, all you have to do is to make people think. Never before has it been so important that people think. . . in a hurry.—Clarence R. Graham, of Louisiana Free Public Library.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

HOME DECORATION—One of the most popular forms of entertainment in America is that of "doing over" the interiors of homes.

A growing number of magazines devote space to such programs and even encourage it by reporting that it can be done with minimum expense and maximum pleasure.

The suggestion is often made that all you need to convert the home into what you want is a piece of old burlap, to be dyed purple; three cans of off white paint and one of canary yellow; one screwdriver and a half-dozen pieces of second-hand furniture.

To prove it, the magazines present before and after pictures, showing how the Drakes did over their home at a cost of $12.72 and achieved a setting of dignified simplicity.

THE PLEASANT WAY—The Drakes, if you haven't guessed, were just the luckiest people.

Most of the made-over furniture came from the second-hand store, really good pieces they got for a few pennies. There was the old rocking chair, for example, a fine old rocker that was cut down, sanded, covered with Persian blue lacquer and made into a really clever television cabinet.

And they found an old marble-topped dresser that, with legs removed and the marble top cut into marquetry squares, was converted into a lovely spice cabinet for the play room.

They had such fun shopping in the second-hand stores. Everything was so reasonable in price. And the Drakes spent many cozy evenings together as they pounded and polished their antiques.

AND IN REALITY—There is a story behind the Drakes, and their cheery little project—a story that should prove a warning to every American who is tempted to emulate them.

In the first place, a good old piece of furniture costs a good old price, whether you buy it first-hand or second-hand. And folks in the used furniture business usually know the value of a real antique and charge accordingly.

Second, it is expensive to make over anything if the work is to be well done. Too many home-grown pieces of furniture are unsteady on their legs, have a suspicious bump in the upholstery that promises a poke in the seat, and reveal the scrapes and gouges of the amateur workman.

Third, if you are not accustomed to the vagaries of paint and varnish remover, or the intricacies of dowel pins and hand saws, you had better choose movie-going for amusement.

NOT SO COZY—Husbands and wives who can be civil to each other, let alone conversationally cozy, while mama ruins her manicure in varnish remover and papa pounds his thumb with the hammer are an unusual couple.

Actually there is an incipient divorce in every home decoration job where one or the other of the partners in marriage is not heady with enthusiasm for the project.

Even where the husband and wife team embark on the venture with mutual responsibility and good will, nerves are likely to jangle before the last coat of paint is dry.

THE COMPLETE EFFECT—One of the most oppressive results of the home decorating job is that of living in the same house with it.

Not even the guests are allowed to escape. They must cast an appreciative eye and feel with an appreciative finger and acclaim with an appreciative exclamation or they are considered totally lacking in good taste.

Hell hath no fury like that of scorned interior decorator. They worm hollow compliments from the victims, and thus encouraged begin dreaming up new outrages.

As for the Drakes, let them do their clever best—but also let them spare their guests from an evening discussion on the virtues of reupholstering a worn-out ottoman.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

THREE SIMILAR WORDS

Now and then, in a piece of fiction, usually, a person is described as being an "ascetic" or as having an "ascetic" face. Since this word (pronounced uh-SET-ik) looks so much like "aesthetic" (uh-SEE-tik or uh-SET-ik) and sounds so much like "aesthetic" (es-THET-ik), also spelled "esthetic," it is well to know all three of them.

An "ascetic" is a person who keeps his passions and appetites under rigid control, leads a very strict and self-denying life. Or if a person's features are finely drawn, giving an indication of self-denial and self-control, we may say that he or she has an "ascetic" face.

The word comes to us from the Greek "asketes," a term applied in the early Christian church to a person who gave up former social life and comforts to lead one of fasting and solitude and religious devotion. He became a hermit, that is, and our word "ascetic" still carries a reminder of the stern life these ancient hermits lived.

The word "aesthetic" also has a Greek source, "aisthetikos," having understanding, or perception, especially by the five senses of sight, touch, taste, smell and hearing. Our word came into use about two hundred years ago by philosophers who had it indicate a keen appreciation of beauty, either of nature or the fine arts. Thus, a person may be described as "aesthetic" who has a keen pleasure in the colors of autumn leaves, or in paintings, or who would make great sacrifices to hear good music. We now speak of the science of "aesthetics" or "esthetics," which is interpreted to mean the science of beauty and taste in art.

Ruark Thinks:

Labor Saving Gadgets Make Us Soft Whiners

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—My dreams have been hag-ridden for several nights now by the dreadful impact of a recent full-page advertisement in Life. A husband, obviously considering divorce, huddles sullenly beneath the blankets. His bride is wearing that if-you-know-what's-good-for-you look.

And the caption is: "No! It's your morning to turn up the thermostat!" And then goes on to say that soon the poor fellow will have to crawl out of his nice warm sack and shiver down the icy floors to turn up his old-fashioned thermostat.

This, I believe, is the capsuled criticism of what's been happening to the country in recent years—so much contrived ease and luxurious convenience and fussy gadgeteering that a certain softening of the moral fibers is almost inevitable.

Young as I am—and I am but a boy—I can remember very well when just ordinary steam heat set a man aside from his fellows. Most of my tender years were spent freezing between pot-bellied stoves and bed, in rooms that never lost their ice-rink aspect. I was delighted when we finally got a coal furnace that heated the middle of one room, at least, if you went and stood over the grill.

Too Much Gadgeteering
There is no point, of course, of advocating a return to the Spartan delights of the outhouse and the springhouse, when modern plumbing and the food freezer have added considerable to our culture. And the airplane certainly beats the covered wagon as a vehicle on which to cross the continent.

But we are so newly come from the bare-necessity age that we have given undue importance to gadgeteering and slothful ease. There just doesn't seem to be enough actual work to do to keep us out of mischief.

A certain petulance develops, as a direct result. There are no longer any "chores" for junior, under the modern scheme of free development of personality, so junior is out investigating marijuana for his kicks. Certainly, there is not enough economic insistence on family solidarity today, if only to protect the individual against the menace of cold, illness and hunger—so the family feels freer to go boom when John gets mad at Mary.

Grounds for Divorce?
The average modern woman of lower middle and middle means does not have to contend with the bone-crushing duties of her mother, who baked, washed, ironed, cooked, cleaned, sewed, minded the children, milked the cows and took care of grandma. This is fine, but it does give the modern lady a great deal of extra leisure to be discontented with her lot of femininity. She is apt to figure that a refusal to turn up the thermostat means that Harry is nursing a symbolic resentment of her, and is liable to build it into a divorce action.

The age of the package, the short cut, the improvement, the gimmick, the time-saving whizzeroo has implied mainly just one thing: it is not necessary to do it for yourself. Let something else, or somebody else, do it for you.

This projects easily into a national lethargy which may demand a socialist state, which drops more and more emphasis on letting the government call your shot, of depending on others to tackle your problems for you. It has certainly made us more of a nation of grumblers and whiners when the excess of luxury is not immediately forthcoming.

Our psychological disturbances have risen amazingly in the last few years, as have our divorce rate and our recognition of alcoholism as evidence of unstable personality and inability to cope with certain realities. I can't help but believe that the boy with the "old-fashioned" thermostat supplies at least part of the answer as to what's wrong with us. We have too much already, and are greedy for more, if more is to be obtained without effort.

Marquette Gets Hospital Grant

St. Mary's Plans $1,000,000 Job

MARQUETTE—Approval of the $500,000 federal grant for the construction of a million-dollar addition to St. Mary's hospital here has been made by the Michigan Advisory Hospital Council.

Announcement of the approval of the grant was made today by Thomas C. Harmon, 927 North Third street, who recently returned from Lansing, where a meeting of the council was held. Several other projects under consideration also were discussed at the meeting.

Harmon is the Upper Peninsula representative on the council, which administers the funds granted to the state by the federal government toward the construction of hospitals and tuberculosis sanatoriums under the Hill-Burton Act.

Available in July, 1952
Harmon stated this morning that the $500,000 will become available to St. Mary's Hospital in the 1952 fiscal year, which begins in July, 1952. Only 10 per cent of the funds administered under the Hill-Burton Act are used for the construction of TB sanatoriums.

For the past seven years the federal government has been providing funds for the construction of hospitals and sanatoriums in the United States under the Hill-Burton Act. The national appropriation for this purpose the past fiscal year was 85 million dollars.

Harmon said Marquette will be the seventh community in the

Prices Up On Veal, Lamb And Mutton

By WILLIAM O. VARN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government today approved new ceilings expected to bring higher prices in most butcher shops for lamb, mutton and veal.

The new regulations issued by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) are effective next Tuesday. One sets dollars and cents ceilings for wholesale lamb, yearling lamb and mutton.

The second order authorizes retailers to figure new ceilings weekly to reflect changes in the wholesale prices of lamb, mutton and veal. This order permits markets to pass on to the public any changes in prices up or down.

Of the new veal price order, officials said the provision for retailers to figure new ceilings is expected to bring higher prices. They said wholesalers generally had raised prices during the general freeze period—last Dec. 19 through Jan. 25. Retailers mostly had not changed their prices to reflect increases. They now may do so.

On lamb, reporters were told, there may be a slight price boost in most areas with some slight reductions possible at some butcher counters. Officials explained that the lamb price structure has differed greatly by geographic areas since the general freeze. They said the effect of the new order will be to stabilize and even out ceilings.

The new wholesale ceilings on lamb and mutton are based on a price of $58 for 100 pounds for prime and choice carcass lambs sold by packers at Denver, Colo., $59.80 in Chicago and Los Angles, $61.20 in New York and $62.80 in Miami. Wholesalers of lamb and mutton will add $2.50 per 100 pounds to the packer price, plus freight costs.

Try-on shoes for children, for use in retail stores, are made of transparent plastic and permit salesmen and parents to see exactly how the shoes fit the feet. When the proper shoe is determined, exact counterparts in leather, made on the same lasts, are delivered for wear.

Sheriff Called Killer By Negro

By BENNETT DELOACH
EUSTIS, Fla. — (AP) — Sheriff Willis McCall and a deputy were accused by Walter Irvin of shooting him and killing a fellow Negro prisoner without cause.
Irvin said Thursday night deputy James L. Yates shot him while he lay wounded on the ground after McCall fired two bullets into him.
He related Yates shot him in an effort to make sure he was dead. Irvin is a defendant in a rape case. Samuel Shepherd, also charged in the same case, was killed Tuesday night while he and Irvin were being returned from the state prison at Raiford.
McCall said he shot the two Negroes when they "jumped" him and tried to escape when he stopped to inspect a faulty tire. Yates said he had no comment.
The two Negroes were being taken to Tavares for a hearing in connection with a re-trial on charges they raped a farm wife in July, 1949.
They were convicted in September of that year and sentenced to death, but the supreme court set aside the conviction because Negroes were excluded from the trial jury.

National Guard Will Seek 7,000 Recruits In Year-Around Drive

LANSING — (AP) — A year-around Michigan National Guard recruiting campaign designed to bring the Guard up to full strength was ordered today by Maj. Gen. Ralph A. Loveland, commanding general.
The full authorized strength of the Guard is 15,600 officers and men, but present strength is 7,800.
All unit commanders have been ordered to appoint a recruiting officer to bring the campaign to the local unit level.
Loveland said the guard is looking to men between 17 and 18½ for most recruits. Those who join the guard before they are 18 will be deferred in the draft as long as they maintain satisfactory records in the Guard.

OSLA, Norway — (AP) — Norway promised today to stop moving Soviet war dead for the time being and proposed that a Norwegian-Russian commission be named to solve the grave shifting squabble.
The foreign ministry made the peace bid in a note to the Soviet embassy.
Norway incurred Russia's wrath by transferring the bodies of Soviet soldiers and slave laborers slain in Norway by the Germans. Most of the dead have been moved from scattered burial plots to a new cemetery on the island of Tjoetta, off the north coast.
Russia called this an "unfriendly act" and demanded in a sharp note Oct. 31 that the removals be stopped.

Jet Plunges In Busy Corpus Christi Street At 500 Miles An Hour

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. — (AP) — A navy jet training plane plunged into the pavement of a busy four-lane thoroughfare yesterday at an estimated 500 miles per hour.
The resulting explosion rattled windows in houses two miles away.
Killed was the pilot, Aviation Machinist Mate 1/C Grant Lee Deming, of Corpus Christi.
The plummeting jet narrowly missed automobiles and fell about 50 yards from the nearest house.

Floridan Convicted Of Killing Wife, 31, In Bed With Friend

TITUSVILLE, Fla. — (AP) — A 44-year-old former county health official was convicted of second degree murder last night for slaying his wife when he found her nude in bed with a married man.
A circuit court jury deliberated five hours before returning a verdict against Dr. Hans A. Strasser, onetime Brevard county health director.

Strasser testified he discovered his 31-year-old wife Wilma in bed with a mutual friend, James R. Howie, a former technician at the guided missile base at nearby Cocoa.

He said he had "no recollection of firing any shots," but admitted he must have killed his wife and then shot Howie.

The shooting took place after an all-night drinking party April 14 at the Strasser cottage on Cocoa Beach.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (AP) — Three airmen were killed and one was missing in the crash of a B-29 last night, but 11 men, rushing pellmell from the crippled superfortress, parachuted to safety.
The survivors said the No. 3 engine caught fire while the ship was on a routine training mission from nearby Randolph air force base.
The 11 crewmen who parachuted were hospitalized overnight for a routine checkup but none appeared injured.
It was obvious to first arrivals at the scene that no one could have survived if they rode the plane down. Wreckage was scattered over a wide area.

Arsenal Of Pistols Stolen From Colt; Bandit Kills Two

HARTFORD, Conn. — (AP) — One hundred and 78 pistols which could comprise a deadly arsenal in underworld hands are missing from the Colt Manufacturing company, state police say.
At least one of them already has dealt death.
The weapon used by a bandit in New Britain Monday night to kill a bystander and one of the policemen who thwarted his holdup of a packing plant has been identified as one of the guns smuggled out of the firearms factory.

State Police Major Leo Carroll said Edward Quirk, 29, of Portland, who was arrested October 13 in New Haven, made statements accounting for the disappearance of 40 of the missing pistols. There was no comment from police about the other 138.

Badger Coatta Nominated For All-American

NEW YORK — (AP) — Babe Parilli, Kentucky's wizard "T" style quarterback, heads this week's 19 nominations to the Associated Press all-America squad, bringing the grand total to 145.
Parilli's work earlier this season was obscured by his team's defeats, but last Saturday he came onto his own with three touchdown passes as Miami of Florida went down to defeat, 33 to 0. In all, he gained 103 yards on passes.
Recognition was also given John Coatta, the quarterback of Wisconsin's surprising team, who threw the winning forward pass in the last minute of play against Indiana.

Other well known players singled out by the AP board of 11 experts included Ollie Matson, the San Francisco university speedster, and Billy Hair of Clemson.

Herb Nethery, Illinois end, was nominated for the defense team.

The 1951 Associated Press All America team will not be chosen until the big games of Dec. 1 have been played.

Newsprint To Remain Scarce Next Year; Production Boosted

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Supplies of newsprint will continue scarce through next year, the National Production Authority (NPA) said yesterday, although it looks for a continued increase in production.
NPA officials reported to publishers who make up the newspaper industry advisory committee that production this year will approximate 6,600,000 tons in North America compared with 6,200,000 tons last year.

Agency officials also estimated that from 40,000 to 50,000 tons probably will be needed in the first half of next year to make emergency shipments to friendly foreign countries.

No Serious Clashes

More than 20,000 union dockers were affected by the minority walkout, which began over ratification Oct. 12 of a new ILA contract with east coast shipping and Stevedoring companies. The dissident group, led by John (Gene) Sampson, went out three days later.

Pickets, aided by motorcades of strikers, barred entrance to the docks by non-striking ILA members. In many instances, fists and rocks flew during the dispute, but no serious incidents occurred. In some instances, workers went to and from the docks aided by police details.

In announcing the back-to-work move, Corsi made no mention of concessions, if any, coming from either side. He said the inquiry board would continue its public hearings on the dispute.

One Body Recovered In Waukegan Tragedy Which Took 5 Lives

WAUKEGAN, Ill. — (AP) — The body of one of three duck hunters who vanished on Lake Michigan Oct. 27 was found yesterday on south beach here. There was no trace, however, of the others or the two coast guardsmen missing since they went to look for the lost hunters.
The body was that of Ralph Savaglio, 19, of Waukegan.
His companions on the ill fated hunting trip were Walter Iman, 31, of Waukegan, and William Brown, 31, of Zion, Illinois. They set out in a 16-foot boat with an outboard motor. It was found nearly submerged Oct. 28.

The coast guardsmen who vanished in a search of the hunters were Robert Sawyer, of Detroit, boatswain's mate third class and Max Wage, of Milwaukee, engine-man first class. Parts of their crash boat were found floating in the lake Oct. 31.

DETROIT MAN ACCUSED OF SPYING IN EGYPT

CAIRO — (AP) — A Michigan man accused of being a British spy by angry Egyptians made it to the protection of a police station Thursday night and thereby escaped injury.
He is Myles Standish III, 26, third secretary of the U. S. embassy here. He was born in Detroit.

The embassy said Standish was accosted by several Egyptians while crossing a bridge connecting the tough Boulac section of Cairo with an island in the Nile. It said the Egyptians threatened him but he succeeded in reaching a nearby police station.

"Why, I never stole a single thing in my whole life."
Dr. Gwynne Nettler, labeled by his students as the best dressed Prof on the Santa Barbara college campus, was arraigned yesterday on three counts of burglary and one of carrying a pistol in his automobile.

At the same time, Dr. J. Harold Williams, provost of the college, announced that Nettler had resigned.

Wildcat New York Dock Strike Ends; Loss Over Billion

open at 1 p. m. (EST) today.

Boston was the only other port completely shut down by the strike, with other east coast ports being affected from time to time.

In New York, an increasing number of dockers had been returning to work on non-military ships in recent days.

Corsi's announcement followed a four-hour closed meeting between representatives of rebel Longshoremen and the panel.

All the Stevedores are members of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), whose Atlantic coast district represents 65,000 dock workers from Maine to Virginia.

Chapman's 34-34-68, marked by four putts of from 15 to 30 feet, was the second round's best score. Playing with Snead, he showed Sammy a thing or two about putting.

Back of the top four who were blanketed by a stroke came this quartet at 144, two behind the leader.

Amateur Francis (Bo) Wininger, Pleasantville, N. J., and Bob Toske, Northampton, Mass.; Dai Rees, British Ryder copper, and John Barnum, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Jim Thorpe Faces Cancer Operation

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Jim Thorpe, 63-year-old Indian athlete termed America's greatest of the last 50 years, undergoes a delicate operation today for what a hospital spokesman described as a form of skin cancer.

Thorpe has been appearing at a Philadelphia cafe heading an all-Indian song and dance troupe. He entered Lankenau hospital several days ago when a sore on his lower lip failed to respond to ordinary treatment.

Middlecoff Has Stroke Lead In Golf Tournament

PINEHURST, N. C. — (AP) — Despite a costly lapse that cost him a stroke which might loom large by payoff time Sunday, Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist from Memphis, Tenn., was top man by one stroke going into today's third round of the North and South golf tournament.

Middlecoff, the 1949 U. S. Open champion who six years ago became the only amateur in the tournament's 49-year history to finish first, came up with his second one-under par 71 yesterday for a 142 and a stroke edge over three rivals—Dick Chapman, the British amateur champion from Pinehurst; Jimmy Adams, Scotch member of the British Ryder cup team, and Tommy Bolt, Durham, N. C., professional.

Middlecoff's bad hole was the par five eighth, a 488-yarder. After a fine tee shot he was addressing his ball for the second when his iron inadvertently moved the ball an inch and that cost him a stroke. After reaching the green he three-putted for the six.

Snead Has Troubles

Although Middlecoff had his work cut out for him, with four challengers two shots away at 144 and four more at 145, his task was made easier by the troubles of Sam Snead and Julius Boros.

Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., slugger, who was favored to win his third North and South in a row, withdrew after skying to 78, the same score posted by Boros, of Southern Pines, N. C., the first day leader with 68. Neither could buy a birdie.

Lower Michigan Prep Grid Games At Mercy Of Snow

GRAND RAPIDS — (AP) — Snow-crusted fields and low temperatures have interfered with two of Michigan's leading class A schoolboy games this weekend.
The Grand Rapids South at Benton Harbor game was cancelled and the Wyandotte at Grand Rapids Union game was postponed until Friday, Nov. 16.

Coach Ted Soyle said his Grand Rapids Catholic Central team, ranked No. 2 in the Associated Press poll, would play Detroit Catholic Central tomorrow night regardless of the weather.

Officials at Muskegon, ranked No. 1 said that only a very bad turn in the weather would force postponement of tomorrow afternoon's traditional clash with Muskegon Heights.

Michigan State has only one win in three starts to date but will be given a lift by the return of team captain Jim Kepford. Notre Dame finished behind Wisconsin in a triangular meet with the Badgers and Marquette and won the Loyola invitational meet a week ago.

WATCH THE BIRDIE!—Scared by the popping of photographers' flashbulbs, "Mr. Ranshaw," a trained eagle, forgets his training and pecks excitedly at his owner, Capt. C. W. R. Beneficial X-Rays Discovered In Sun

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (AP) — Discovery of X-rays from the sun was reported by scientists here.

These rays are beneficial. They assist radio broadcasting. They are so mild your shirt would be a good protective shield against them.

The discovery is a surprise. The sun was not supposed to be broadcasting X-rays.

Found By Rockets

The rays were reported to the U. S. Air Force symposium on physics and medicine of the upper atmosphere. The rays were found by detectors in V-2 and other rockets fired at White Sands, New Mexico. They were found by means of photographic film, geiger counters and scintillation counters.

These X-rays are many times less penetrating than those the dentist uses to photograph the roots of your teeth. They do not come down in the atmosphere much lower than 50 miles overhead. The air absorbs them.

This absorption explains their role in helping radio broadcasting. They electrify (ionize) a layer of atmosphere that reflects radio broadcast signals.

Scientists have been puzzled about the origin and action of this layer. It disappears at sunset.

Higher layers then take over the radio broadcasting reflection. These higher layers are caused by ultra-violet light.

Halo Is Hot

But the cause of the low layer was not known until the discovery of the sun's X-rays. This explains why the layer disappears at sunset. The X-rays travel only in the direct sunshine.

The solar X-rays appear to originate in the sun's corona, the pearly halo of light seen during total eclipses. The rays come from a portion of the outer part of the halo which has a temperature of about one million degrees Fahrenheit. That is far hotter than the sun's surface. Heat occurs where the gases of the sun's atmosphere are very thin. This heat has been mystifying the astronomers who discovered it a few years ago. The temperature is attributed to effects of electricity on the atoms in the corona.

The reports about the X-rays were made by Dr. E. O. Hulburt and T. R. Burnight of the Naval Research Laboratory, Washington, and Dr. Marsel Nicolet of the Royal Meteorological Institute, Belgium.

Radioactive Cobalt Newest Hope For Combatting Cancer

By FRANK CAREY
DALLAS — (AP) — Tailor-made devices for applying atomic energy against cancer are predicted.

Dr. Herbert D. Kerman, an atomic scientist, said the possibilities rest with radioactive cobalt, a grey-white metal which is a "relatively cheap substitute for radium."

He declared the substance had special properties lending themselves to the fabrication of applicators which might, in effect, be form-fitted around a cancer on the body's surface.

Less Shielding Required

The idea would be to bring powerful atomic radiation against malignant tissue located on body surfaces difficult to attack efficiently by other methods of radiation.

Dr. Kerman, a radiation expert on leave from the University of Louisville, is on the staff of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, an institution of university scientists sponsored by the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Saying radioactive cobalt has physical properties that make it more pliable than radium, and radioactive properties that require less shielding without loss of power, Dr. Kerman told the 45th annual meeting of the Southern Medical Association:

"With imagination, one can foresee applicators devised from cobalt foil or made by plating or spraying the material on specially constructed molds."

Already, he said, one scientist has suggested possibility of incorporating radioactive cobalt in powdered form into a plastic material which, in turn, might "be cut to desired shapes for direct application to a tumor."

Supply Limited

And he declared that in the treatment of internal cancers, radioactive cobalt already is being used in these forms by other investigators:

1. As a radioactive "wire," encased in a very fine plastic tube, and "threated" around the contours of a deep-seated cancer.

2. As a constituent of "beads" which are placed in an inflatable tube inserted into body cavities like the bladder as a means of directing radiation against cancers in such places.

He said that at the Oak Ridge Institute research is underway designed to use solutions of radioactive cobalt, encased in thin-walled rubber containers, against cancer of the vagina, womb and bladder.

But he said radioactive cobalt still is limited in supply because it must be made in atomic energy

Wage Earners Running Behind

Pay Doesn't Keep Up With Living Costs

By HAROLD W. WARD
NEW YORK — (AP) — Secretary of Labor Tobin told the CIO that 45 per cent of the nation's wage earners have failed to obtain cost of living increases in step with rises since January, 1950.

Between January, 1950, and June, 1951, Tobin told the CIO "ovens" on which there are numerous other demands.

convention, the cost of living index has risen 10.1 per cent.

"When more than 20,000,000 Americans lose in real wages in the period from January, 1950 to June, 1951, for most of them it means less food on the table, poorer clothing for the children, lower standards of living for the family," he said.

Tobin said that most of the 20,000,000 persons whose pay had not kept pace with living costs, were in the white collar field and mostly were unorganized. He insisted that to bring those workers up to date with cost of living pay boosts would not be inflationary.

Bob Bickel, defensive back on Duke University's football squad, is also an outstanding lacrosse player.

MADE SURE OF SUPPLY

In Hawaii, when planters offered cash for all rat tails, to rid the country of the destructive rodents, the plan backfired. Natives were cutting the tails off, but freeing the live rats for future breeding stock.

It has a Way with Women

SOMETIMES we think that too little attention is given to the fair sex in automobile advertising.

After all, it's the woman of the house who has to do most of the shopping, which involves getting into tight places at the curb. And it's surprising what tight spots a Buick can fit into at a turn of the wheel.

It's the woman who likes complete freedom from things that it takes an engineer to operate—and a complete and utter freedom from mechanical complications is exactly what makes Dynaflo Drive* such a joy.

It's the woman who has an eye for style and fine fabrics—and a nose for economy. On both counts, a Buick is tops.

But we suspect something else. We suspect that a woman gets just as great a lift as a man from commanding this great-powered and trigger-quick bundle of vitality to bow to her will.

Here's a car to win any woman's heart—by its level-gaited stride—its willing response to her hand on the wheel—its smart style and its smart performance—its spaciousness and comfort—and its thrift.

How about taking time off, some afternoon, to boss around a Buick? It's a date that's bound to thrill you.

Italian Armed Forces Buildup NATO Problem

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
ROME — (NEA) — Rebuilding Italy's armed forces presents one of the most serious problems of the entire North Atlantic community.

"They are poorly equipped and they have a long way to go before reaching the standards we require," says U. S. Admiral Richard B. Carney, commander-in-chief, Allied forces, Southern Europe.

Admiral Carney is, however, hopeful. Italian manpower has been untapped. Economic surveys have indicated there is nothing the Italians can't make. Their technical skill is exceeded in Europe only by the Germans. The Italians have the spirit and the willingness to do what is asked of them. The American aid program will help some. But mostly it is a problem for the Italians themselves.

U. S. congressmen, members of a House Military Affairs subcommittee who have been touring Europe, report that the Alpine troops on Italy's northern border look excellent. A big new U. S. supply base is being built in the Leghorn area, and a new supply line for Austria is being established across northern Italy. Italian industry in the Turin-Milan area is humming. Italian agriculture in the fertile Po valley is producing at record highs.

Farther south, however, the picture is not so good. Unemployment is around the two million mark and there are another two million only partially employed.

Over a fourth of Italy's gross national product is taken in taxes, and a third of the government's budget goes to military preparedness.

Weaknesses Show

Before the war, Italy had 60 divisions. General Elio Marras, Italian chief of staff, maintains that Italy's 12 divisions of today have more fire power than 70 pre-war divisions, but that is on paper only.

A demonstration for American newspapermen arranged at Italy's Infantry Officers' Training School at Cesano, near Rome, showed fundamental weaknesses even in the training stage. The school had just received Browning light automatics. They had no ammunition for bazookas, and so had not fired them, though they had given basic training to non-coms and junior officers.

At a rudimentary platoon field exercise, with live ammunition, the student officers stood on the sidelines and heard a lecture while a demonstration team went through the maneuver. At an equivalent U. S. officers' training school, the lieutenants and captains themselves would have been put through the exercise in the mud, to gain the experience the hard way. Overcoming the old Italian Army officer caste system is proving difficult.

The peace treaty limited Italy to an army of 250,000 men, a Navy of 25,000 men, an Air Force of 25,000 men. No limitations were put on planes, however, so Italy is planning to increase her forces just as soon as the treaty limitations can be set aside.

Equipment Builds Up

No treaty limits were placed on light tanks, radar, bazookas and anti-aircraft guns and other specialized weapons, so there is a more rapid build-up of equipment than manpower in these categories.

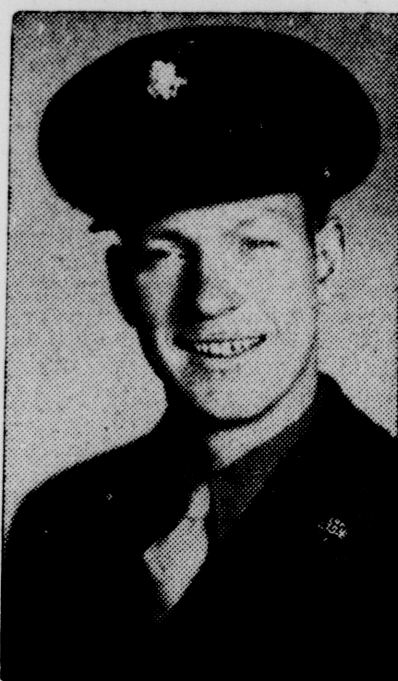

Italy's Air Force was completely destroyed in the war. By treaty it was limited to 200 fighters and 50 of all other types, excluding bombers. The U. S. made an initial contribution of 100 F-51's, with a year's spare parts. The Italian Air Force staff and supply systems have been reorganized on U. S. standards and are said to be showing improvement.

When Italian crews flew 16 Vampires to the European army maneuvers last month, and they came back across the Alps without loss, it was considered something of an accomplishment. Italian pilots are now being trained for F-84 jet operations, and the present plans call for building up the Air Force beyond treaty limitations. The Air Force could be expanded to 80,000 of 100,000 men on short order. The Italian Navy, limited by treaty to 67,500 tons, has been built around three cruisers and three destroyers. No limitation was placed on auxiliary vessels, so expansion of the Navy has been begun there. All ships are being modernized by U. S. weapons, radar and sonar.

The U. S. is building some new minesweepers for Italy, and others will be built in Italian yards.

With an excellent reserve system in effect, the Italian Navy can be expanded to 150,000 men as soon as the treaty limitations are removed.

Scott Paper And Pulp Firm Join

Soundview Merger Is Announced

MENOMINEE—Stockholders of Scott Paper company and Soundview Pulp company voting Monday at meetings held simultaneously in Chester, Pa., and San Francisco approved and adopted the joint plan and agreement of merger providing for the merger of Soundview into Scott. The merger is effective Nov. 9.

Under the terms of the merger Soundview stockholders will receive one and one-quarter common shares of Scott for each share of Soundview common stock.

"Bringing together in a single enterprise all of the assets, both tangible and intangible, of these two great companies will be in my judgment," said Thomas B. McCabe, president of Scott, "one of the most significant forward steps in the history of the companies and adds materially to the sound foundation for future growth and development."

"For years Scott Paper company has been searching for an ideal paper mill site on the Pacific coast on which to construct a modern paper mill in order to take care of the large and rapidly expanding market for its products in that area. Soundview provides such a site. There are, potentially, very substantial savings in the operation of a combined pulp and paper mill on the west coast site, where pulpwood can be piped in slush form directly to the paper machines, thus eliminating the cost of drying and baling the pulp for shipment over a greater distance. It is anticipated that even more important savings should result from having an integrated

Freeze Placed On New Models

Machine Tools Going For Defense In 1952

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government today imposed a virtual "freeze," effective Feb. 1, on the introduction of new models by the automobile industry and manufacturers of other major consumer durable goods.

The action came in the form of orders reserving machine tools almost completely for military and defense-supporting production.

This would bar retooling by civilian manufacturers of cars, washing machines, refrigerators operation located near such a substantial and growing market."

and similar appliances.

The intent, NPA's announcement said, is to insure that the entire output of the machine tool industry—a bottleneck in the aircraft, tank and other munitions programs—is channeled into defense.

The action will not affect 1952 model automobiles which soon will reach show rooms.

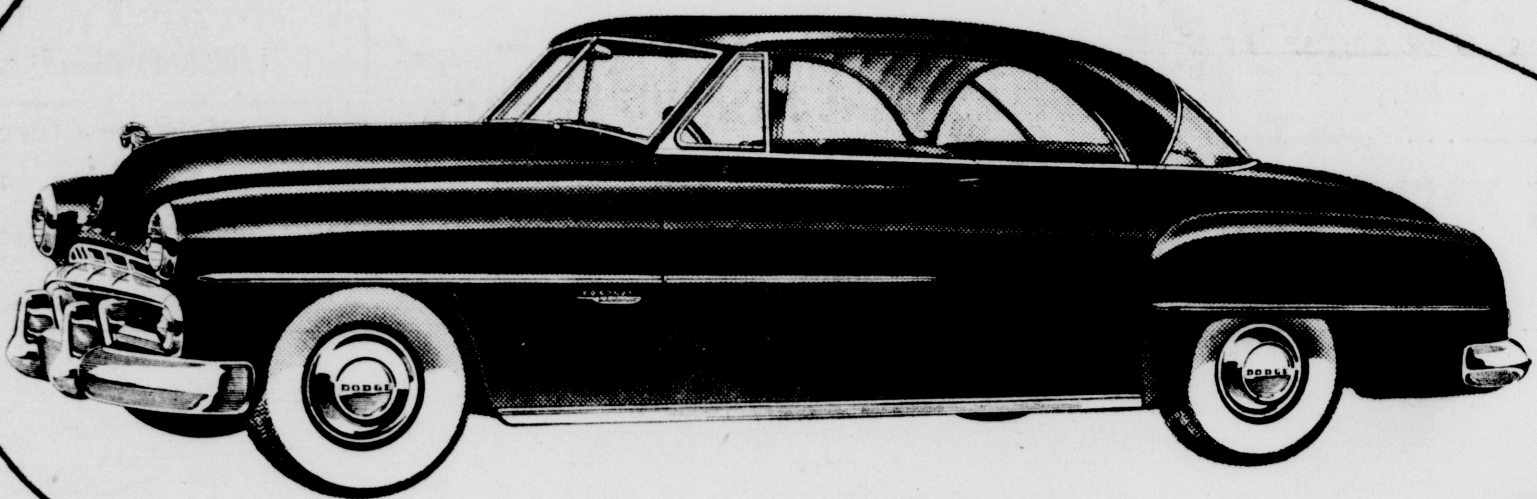

The passenger car industry started retooling for 1952 early in the year and some industry men describe the changes as "pretty nominal—mostly in design and decoration."

The order will not bar later minor alterations which do not require retooling.

A concrete into which nails can be driven as into wood, and which resists withdrawal to the same degree that wood does, is made of portland cement, the mineral known as vermiculite, and vitrified clay granules. It is the vermiculite which is flexible enough to yield and receive the nails.

New Paper Mill Owners Meet Local Business Men At Luncheon Yesterday

New owners of the Manistique paper mill were introduced to local business men at a luncheon yesterday noon at the Denny restaurant banquet room by Ford Sheperd, of Washington, D. C., Mead Corporation public relations official.

Sale of the property by the Mead Corporation to the Trenton Times Corporation, Trenton, N. J., was announced to Mead officials here yesterday morning and to the public at the luncheon.

Three Trenton Times officials and owners present were Thomas L. Kerney, general manager; James Kerney, jr., editor, and John E. Kerney, business manager.

Kerney Speaks
Speaking on behalf of the new owners, James Kerney discussed the world newsprint situation and the motives which impelled his firm to purchase the local mill, reconvert it to newsprint production and sell its product to several South American countries exclusively. None of the mills' newsprint, he said, would go to Argentina where freedom of the press is gradually being extinguished.

Production here, he pointed out, will aid greatly in relieving the tension of newsprint shortage in South America and will help to maintain a free press there and bind the two American continents closer together.

Reconversion of the Manistique mill to newsprint will start in January, the speaker said.

"We were gratified to find a happy, producing unit here," Kerney said, "and we do not propose to make any changes in the mill's management and supervisory staff."

Welcome By Mayor
Sheperd, speaking on behalf of the Mead firm, expressed regret that his company was terminating its business affairs in this community.

Regret that the Mead firm was leaving and a welcome to the new owners were voiced by Mayor James H. Fyvie and Chamber of Commerce Secretary Fred Heltman.

Mead officials present besides Sheperd were E. G. Bennett, general manager of the Mead mill at Escanaba; R. G. Hentschell, mill manager here, and Frank Hoholik and Rodger Smith, of the local mill's supervisory staff.

Wild Animals For Russia Are Sought

MILAN (AP)—Soviet Russia is in the market for wild animals. Augusto Molinar, director of the Milan Zoo, said today that Moscow's Zoological (Zoological Center) is negotiating with him for purchase of lions, tigers, giraffes, zebras, elephants, rhinoceri, hipopotami, monkeys and snakes. If negotiations are completed, Molinar said, he will leave in December for Africa, India and Australia to collect the animals. He plans to bring them back to Italy next March in a specially chartered 10,000-ton ship. They then will be forwarded to Prague by train for shipment to Russia.

U. S. Canning Reaches Tremendous Stature

NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates that about five million tons of corn, tomatoes, snap beans and lima beans will find their way into cans this year.

The department reports that two billion cans were used in processing these vegetables last year with a value of over $120,000,000. Due to improved methods of preservation, there are now more than 45 varieties of highly nutritious vegetables available in cans the year around, Dr. R. H. Lueck, research director of the American Can Company, pointed out.

Will Reorganize City Cage Loop

Meeting Slated For Wednesday

A reorganization meeting of the city basketball league will be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 14, at the fire hall, it is announced by director. The session is slated for 7:30.

In addition to setting up playing rules and other matters preliminary to the start of play, the group also may take action on a proposed change in league supervision which will be recommended by Reque.

The recreation director will suggest that league officials take over the responsibility of running city basketball during the coming season. Last season league affairs were supervised directly by the recreation commission.

Another proposed change, Reque reported, will be the formation of a board of managers composed of the managers of various teams. Under the proposal it will be the duty of this board to select commissioners.

Commissioners last year were Reque and Seb Rubick. Dick Berger was league treasurer. Eight teams took part in the city cage loop last season.

Comedy Pleases Large Audience Wednesday Night

The play was given under the direction of Marvin Frederickson, high school speech and dramatic director.

Veterans Honor Fyvie At Testimonial Dinner

Veterans of Schoolcraft county paid tribute to Dr. James H. Fyvie, mayor of Manistique, at a testimonial dinner and program Wednesday evening at the Paul Bunyan Cook Camp.

Speakers for various veteran groups voiced appreciation to Dr. Fyvie for his constructive interest in veterans' affairs and for his help to ex-service men since the close of World War II.

A scroll incorporating general appreciation was presented to the guest of honor at the close of the speaking program by Edward Hill, of Rudyard, 14th district VFW commander.

In receiving the scroll Dr. Fyvie said that he accepted the honor with humility, and that any service he was able to give was amply repaid by the satisfaction obtained in its performance.

Fyvie Speaks
Dr. Fyvie discussed briefly the problem of the disabled veteran, stating that every veteran with a service connected disability, no matter how slight, should have his case properly recorded.

The veteran, he pointed out, owes this service to his dependents, and he cited a local case to support his contention that sometimes a slight disability can prove serious later on.

He also urged local veteran groups to take an interest in the environment in which some veterans live following discharge from service, stating that sympathetic and intelligent help can often help correct home situations which may prove socially unwholesome.

Citing Manistique's population decrease during the past few years, Dr. Fyvie urged that veteran groups also take some action which would induce returning Korean veterans to establish their homes in this area.

Kelly Toastmaster
John W. Kelly officiated as toastmaster during the program. Speakers who extended tribute to Dr. Fyvie included William A. Corson, president of the Top O' Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce; Everett Anderson, chairman of the Schoolcraft county veterans trust fund; E. J. Doyle, commander of the Manistique post of the American Legion and captain of the local National Guard company; Earl Malloch, sr., commander of the Disabled American Veterans; Leonard Mulhaupt, Korean veteran who recently returned from overseas; Don Messier, veterans counselor and program chairman; George Orlich, commander of the Germfask VFW post; and Lionel Mercier, commander of the Manistique VFW post.

Fred H. Hahne, chairman of the soldiers and sailors relief commission, was unable to be present but sent a message to be read at the session.

The program and dinner were sponsored by the local VFW organization. A cake for the occasion was donated by the Quality Bakery and a special floral arrangement representing Bugs Bunny was contributed by Leonard Walters. The floral display was inscribed with the caption: "What's up, Doc?"

The appeal for scrap iron is still being made.

By press and radio, national defense officials are asking that citizens collect scrap metal and turn it in to dealers.

Scrap iron is necessary in the production of steel, and steel is vital for the defense program. You are urged to do your bit—collect every bit of scrap iron around your premises NOW and sell it to your scrap dealer where it will be available as needed.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

While joy reigns in Newberry, Menominee is steeped in gloom . . . The Maroons were separated from the Upper Peninsula championship by a 5 to 3 vote of U. P. sports writers last weekend . . . Of the eight newspapers represented at the meeting, the ballots were registered like this . . . Menominee, Escanaba and Iron Mountain voted for the Maroons . . . Newberry, Sault Ste. Marie, The Sunday Visitor, Gladstone and Marquette voted for the Indians . . . Absent from the meeting were Ironwood, Houghton, Crystal Falls, Norway, Iron River and Wakefield—all members of the Association.

Harold Goodyear, end, and Bill Bovin, tackle of the Gladstone Braves were named to the all-opposition team recently selected by the Ishpeming Hematites . . . Billy Wells, sophomore sensation on the Michigan State grid team, wears a number that has already been made famous for the Spartans . . . His numeral 14 made history at Michigan State when it was worn by Lynn Chandnois, the Spartan All-American at right half, same position played by Wells . . . Custom at MSC is to retire famous numbers for one year only.

The Bark River Broncos, who finished the grid season under new coach Paul Wiinikainen with five wins against three losses, have a new opponent in line for next season . . . Superintendent Leo Brunelle informs us that Bark River will play the Niagara Badgers on Oct. 4 to fill an open date . . . The Broncos are stepping into stiff competition in the Badgers who belong to the Menominee Range conference . . . Niagara this year placed two men on the all-Menominee Range first team and two on the second . . . The new game will be played at Bark River.

Something new in basketball will be seen when the Detroit Vagabonds play the Harnischfeger independent team here Nov. 26 . . . Between halves fans will be entertained by Kyle Gay, Ozark Mountain singer . . . The Vagabonds will set up their ball handling exhibition to the rhythm of his music.

Bowl Scouts Await Busy Grid Weekend

NEW YORK — (P)—Major bowl scouts will have their binoculars trained on half a dozen stadiums tomorrow but they'll painstakingly avoid one of the big football battles of the day.

That's the clash at East Lansing, Mich., between unbeaten, untied Michigan State, fifth ranked nationally, and once - defeated Notre Dame, bounding back toward its former heights.

Neither is bowl fodder. As a member of the Big Ten not yet able to partake of the Western conference's Rose bowl gravy, Michigan State is ineligible. The Fighting Irish simply shun post-season activity.

But elsewhere you'll find the pieces gradually falling into place in the giant jig-saw puzzle that makes up the Jan. 1 bowl program.

Feature games in this respect are at Los Angeles, where all-winning Stanford tackles once-defeated Southern California for the almost certain Rose bowl plum, and at Austin, Tex., where Texas and Baylor vie to keep their post-season aspirations alive.

As of this moment, the major bowl games stack up like this:

Rose Bowl—Illinois (6-0) vs. Stanford (7-0) or Southern California (7-1).

Sugar Bowl—Maryland (6-0) vs. Tennessee (6-0).

Cotton Bowl—Texas Christian (5-2) or Texas (6-1) vs. Tennessee or Georgia Tech (6-0-1).

Orange Bowl—Georgia Tech vs. one of the top southwest teams (TCU, Baylor or Texas).

Expect 90,000

A crowd of 90,000 is expected to turn out at Los Angeles to witness the battle of the western titans. If Stanford prevails, it must yet take the measure of Oregon State and California for a perfect league mark. Southern Cal, whose only blot is a 27-17 defeat handed its third stringers by Camp Pendleton, has UCLA and Notre Dame remaining.

Illinois, ranked second behind Tennessee nationally, can wrap up the other Rose Bowl berth by conquering Iowa this week and then subduing Ohio State and Northwestern. That's a considerable order but Illinois has proved itself a considerable football team.

But Lowell Perry, star offensive end, is listed as a doubtful starter as the result of a leg injury stemming from Saturday's loss to Illinois.

Also expected to see limited or no duty is Roger Zatkoff, star linebacker and key to the Michigan defense.

That's the main source of power that enabled Michigan to roll over Indiana, Iowa and Minnesota and their absence may make a difference.

Tad Stanford is the likely replacement for Perry while Fullback Laurie Leclair will likely replace Zatkoff.

A record crowd of 35,300 will jam Schoellkopf Field for the 1:30 p. m. kickoff. It's the first full house for the Cornells since the Cornell-Army game in 1948.

In a team comparison Cornell has been in double figures in every contest this year while Michigan was shut out by both Michigan State and Illinois.

Further comparison is noted in the fact that statistically Michigan ranks fifth in the Big Ten on offense, while Cornell is second only to powerful Princeton in its league.

Michigan Takes On Ivy League Power, Cornell

ITHACA, N. Y. — (P)—Michigan, the defending champion of the Western Conference, meets Cornell, Ivy league power, here Saturday, in the 17th renewal of one of the oldest intercollegiate rivalries in football.

On the record, the Wolverines will go into the game with a slim edge—on the basis of their three out of four game victories in the Big Ten after a dismal double-loss start with Michigan State and Stanford.

However, the twice-beaten Big Red rank tenth in the nation on offense with an average gain of 396.8 yards per game.

Quarterback Rated

The sparkplug of the Cornell T formation offense, and the man Michigan will be out to stop, is Quarterback Rocco Calvo, a smart runner and passer who has averaged 162 yards a game to rate third best in the nation.

With Rocco guiding the attack, Cornell downed Syracuse, Colgate, Harvard and Yale before falling to Princeton and Columbia.

Michigan will rely on the running of Fullback Don Peterson and Capt. Halfback Bill Putich.

Cage Practice Begins For St. Joe Trojans

With four cage stars of last season out of action, Coach Tom St. Germain's St. Joe Trojans began basketball workouts this week in preparation for a 14-game schedule which opens Nov. 28.

Missing from the Trojan workouts are Don Paulin, Jack Courneene and Alfred Dufour, seniors who graduated, and Fred Boddy, transfer to Escanaba high school. Forming the nucleus of the 1951-52 squad are four letter winners who saw extensive action as juniors last year. Heading the list is Pete Kutches, one of the outstanding cagers in the Peninsula. Bill Baker, John Martinac, Jim Gravelle and Bob Sendenburgh.

Lack Height

Reserves who are also bucking for varsity candidate this season are Jim Zimmerman, Bill Maycunich and Jerry McDonough.

Although the Trojans will lack the height of Courneene and Paulin, the quint will be fast and clever again this season. The Trojans last year lost two games all season and were eliminated in the Regional tourney by Soo Loretto, class C champions.

Cage practice began at St. Joe gym Monday with 29 candidates in all. Assisting St. Germain is Don Lufresne, reserve team coach. Opening game of the season will be against Bark River. The game will be played at St. Joe's gym, although it is a Bark River home game.

The season is interrupted Dec. 27-28-29 for the Parochial school tournament.

Following is the complete St. Joe schedule:

Nov. 28—Bark River here.

Nov. 30—Gladstone there.

Dec. 8—Manistique here.

Dec. 15—Stephenson here.

Dec. 27—Parochial tourney.

Maple Leafs Take Second In Ice Loop

(By The Associated Press)

The Toronto Maple Leafs, with an assist from the Montreal Canadiens, have taken over undisputed possession of second place in the National Hockey league.

It happened last night when the Leafs defeated the lowly Chicago Blackhawks 3-1 and the Canadiens staged off a last-period rally by the Boston Bruins or a 4-2 victory. Previously, the Leafs and Bruins were tied for runnerup honors back of Detroit.

Two of the smallest crowds of the season for Chicago and Montreal saw the only games played in the circuit. Only 4,102 saw the Toronto-Chicago affair while 13,971 were on hand at Montreal.

After a scoreless first period, the Leafs scored twice within a space of slightly over two minutes midway of the second period for the lead on which they coasted to victory over the Hawks.

Bert Olmstead, Ross Lowe and Dick Gamble gave the Canadiens a 3-0 lead before the Bruins got their offensive underway late in the second period.

OUT FOR A FROLIC — Clarence "Biggie" Munn (right), Michigan State College grid coach, urges four of his glove-toting charges out into the snow for a workout (Nov. 6) in preparation for the upcoming battle with Notre Dame at East Lansing, Mich., Saturday. Northwestern Sends Young Quarterback Into Action

EVANSTON, Ill.—(P)—Northwestern, off to a rousing start this season but scoreless in its last two games, is counting on an inexperienced quarterback to stoke touchdowns against Purdue tomorrow.

Coach Bob Voigts reached down to the reserves for Sophomore Don Rondou of Green Bay, Wis., as a replacement for regular Bob Burson.

Voigts stuck with Burson through four early season victories and two subsequent defeats. Burson, a junior, has played virtually every minute of offense.

Rondou made his only appearance in the last few moments against Wisconsin two weeks ago. He completed two passes.

Purdue Passer Good

Voigts now wants to see how Rondou handles himself as a starter. And he wants to take some of the pressure off Burson.

Whether young Rondou will be a match in passing for Purdue's veteran flinger, Dale Samuels, is doubtful. The Boilermaker pilot on occasion has been sensational. At worst, he is good.

But possible icy weather conditions in Dyche stadium may make the question academic. Chances are that, if cold, slushy weather continues, both the Wildcats and Boilermakers will have to contend today for the game with powerful Holy Cross.

Notre Dame and Michigan State, both pointing hard for Saturday's clash at East Lansing, were trying to wring every bit of good possible out of extremely bad practice conditions. Snow, slush and icy temperatures made the going rugged, but both teams have been outside in the stuff, laboring to be in the peak of readiness.

Michigan has departed for Ithaca, N. Y., and its first game with Cornell since 1933. End Lowell Perry made the trip but is a doubtful starter because of injuries.

Coach Woody Hayes yesterday reversed his stand of Wednesday, when he expressed pleasure at his Ohio State team's performance in practice. Yesterday, says Hayes, the Buckeyes were lousy. They play Pittsburgh Saturday.

Four of the Irish games were won by scores in the thirties and forties. And Notre Dame proved it had a comeback punch of its own by whipping Purdue 30-9 after trailing 9-7 in the third period.

If the weather holds good the two offensive-minded outfits are expected to match touchdowns in a scoring spree. The latest forecast sets the stage for this frantic scoring with a prediction of cloudy weather, a temperature of about 40 degrees and possible light snow flurries.

Michigan State tapered off work today with the squad in top physical condition and raring to go after two weeks out of competition. Notre Dame is due to train in just before the 1:30 p. m. kickoff.

Singapore Area Has Big Business Boom

SINGAPORE—(AP)—Business is really booming and soaring to new all-time records in Singapore and the Federation of Malaya.

E. M. F. Fergusson, chairman of the Singapore chamber of commerce, announced Malaya trade figures for the first half of 1951 amounted to $1,976,500,000 (U. S.).

The total for all 1950 was $2,282,000,000.

Fergusson said the figures reflected the rapid inflation of demand and prices initiated by the war in Korea.

MAKE YOUR OWN AUTUMN — A novel method of reproducing autumn's beautiful foliage is demonstrated above by Dick Kleber of the Boston Museum of Science. To make colorful leaf prints, you rub artist's oil paint onto a leaf placed against a piece of newspaper; work the paint thoroughly into the leaf, out to its edges and smooth over the surface; place paint-covered side of leaf against a piece of good-quality paper, and press several thicknesses of newspaper against it. The result, as seen above, will be an exact duplicate of the leaf with all its identifying lines in full color.

Ivory Drug Will Open Store Here

In an expansion move designed to serve the major part of Delta county, the Ivory Drug of Gladstone is opening a store at 1015 Ludington in Escanaba today.

He is married to the former Ruth Ward of Gladstone and they have two daughters, Sharon 9 and Carol 5.

Labor Shortage In Malaya Is Reported

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya—(AP)—The Associated Chinese chambers of commerce are worried lest "draft dodgers" will cause a grave labor shortage in Malaya.

President H. S. Lee estimated that 30,000 Chinese youths, including many skilled workers, had left Malaya during the early part of 1951 to avoid being called up under the manpower draft.

Bishop Calls Parley
In Chicago

A meeting of the executive committee of the National Association of Travel Organizations late this month has been called by George E. Bishop, of Marquette, newly-elected president.

Bishop, who also is secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, said committee appointments will be made, matters of policy set up and a program outlined for the 1951-52 travel year.

Other officers of NATO, elected at the annual meeting on Michigan's Mackinac Island, are Bart Leiper, general manager of the Gatlingburg, Tenn., Chamber of Commerce, first vice-president; Peter Schaal, Silver Springs, Fla., advertising director; Royal M. Ryan, executive vice-president of the New York Convention and Visitors Bureau and William E. Barksdale, director of the Mississippi agriculture and industrial board, vice-presidents; S. Walter Lincoln, travel editor of the Chicago Herald-American, secretary; and M. O. Adams, director of touring for the Keystone Automobile Club, Philadelphia, treasurer.

James L. Bossemeyer is executive vice-president in charge of the NATO office in Washington, D. C. Eight regional directors and 12 representatives from industries making up NATO's membership comprise, with the officers, the executive committee.

New Rocket Plane So Fast It Boils From Air Friction

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(AP)—We have a rocket plane, the navy's Douglas Skyrocket, so speedy that air friction can make it hotter than boiling water.

This plane has gone higher than 72,000 feet, (more than 13 miles) the highest published flight of man.

We have three of these planes and the facts uncovered by them, mostly still secret, are expected to benefit many combat planes which still are in the designing board stage.

Cockpit Refrigerated

These reports were made by A. M. Mayo, of the Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., El Segundo, Calif., to a symposium on the medical and other human problems of speed and flight up near the borders of outside space.

The symposium here is the first of its kind. It is sponsored by the U. S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Field, and the Lovelace foundation, of Albuquerque, New Mexico. Physicians, physicists, flyers, airplane designers and astronomers are on the four-day program.

The air friction that is hotter than boiling water, Mayo said, comes at low altitudes. It is met by a refrigeration system in the cockpit. As the rocket ship reaches 70,000 feet the friction is no longer so hot. But above that altitude there is so little air that the heat of the sun's rays becomes intolerable, unless a cooling system is used.

The cooling above 70,000 feet will have to be different than present cooling for lower altitudes, Mayo said. He predicted liquid oxygen for cooling as ships go still higher. And ultimately, he said, the difference in temperature on the sunny and shady sides of a ship can be used for cooling.

Leaves Sound Behind

There is, he said one terror which is not going to bother us much, namely the astonishing heat of very thin upper air. At 35 miles this temperature is 170 fahrenheit and at 400 miles it is 4000 degrees. But the air particles are so far apart at those altitudes they probably will not even be felt as heat.

These fast planes run away from the noises they make, because they travel faster than sound. But Mayo said there is cause to worry about the super-sound vibrations of jet and rocket engines. They are not audible, but no one is sure whether they may harm the men inside the plane.
